word to you is through your secretary who is -- who could call you on the phone and you would move not one foot and get the same information.

SENATOR CLARK: OK, thank you.

PRESIDENT: Senator Cavanaugh, your light's on. For what purpose do you rise?

SENATOR CAVANAUGH: I have a question of Senator Murphy also. Now this applies to everybody, not just lobbyists --

SENATOR MURPHY: I would say everybody, Senator, yes.

SENATOR CAVANAUGH: Is that right Senator Mahoney? So if my Mother comes down here she has to go to the eighth floor and call me and tell me she's here?

SENATOR MURPHY: No, I would assume that if your Mother walked up to the Sergeant-at-Arms in the Rotunda, he would very happily and quickly and politely get in touch with your secretary who would get in touch with you Senator.

SENATOR CAVANAUGH: But my best friend would have to go wherever I --

SENATOR MURPHY: If I had no more friends then you've got I wouldn't worry about your best friend.

SENATOR CAVANAUGH: No, it's not gonna be a big problem for me Senator Murphy, but there are other people here.

SENATOR MURPHY: I was kidding about that friends.

SENATOR KELLY: Mr. President, a question of Senator Murphy. Are you preferring that we answer this now without advise of the Rules Committee?

SENATOR MURPHY: I am to the extent that I think this being a procedure is not subject to the Rules Committee and I, very frankly Senator, would prefer not to make it a rules change perse until we have tested it.

SENATOR KELLY: Thank you.

PRESIDENT: Senator Koch, for what purpose do you rise?

SENATOR KOCH: Question of Senator Murphy.

SENATOR MURPHY: This is your old friend Senator Murphy right here behind you.

SENATOR KOCH: Senator Murphy, as you look over these suggestions, it appears to me that you're saying that there are a number of Senators that do not know how to be discrete in terms of when they leave the floor, how I use my secretary, whether or not it bothers others in case that we are at ease and I cannot dictate letters
